

SPAIN FURNISHES UNIQUE PROBLEM

America's Retaliation for Supply Embargo Exposes Nation's Position

SITS ON WAR FENCE

Although Pro-German, Would Join Allies If She Saw Victory With Them

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Spain today is one of the most important and complex problems facing the United States and the Allies. Already she is feeling the teeth of America's war determination in answer to her interference with shipment of needed supplies to General Pershing's army in France.

It is said that Spain has modern rifles for 2,000,000 men. It is asserted that there are 75,000,000 reservists in the country and that when the Spanish army takes the field the burden of command will fall upon 30,000 trained German soldiers already in the country.

In view of these conditions this Government today is in a delicate position. The task not only of holding Spain to her conceptions of neutrality, but to keep her from joining with Germany.

Mr. Garfield is excused. Mr. McFadden excused Doctor Garfield in a measure for the present conditions, contending that he inherited the trouble when he assumed the office of administrator. The absence of practical coal men on the fuel administration even at present was criticized by Mr. McFadden.

PRESIDENT BLAMED FOR COAL SHORTAGE

McFadden Declares Price Fixing Forced Small Mines to Close

POLICY OF CURTAILMENT

Pennsylvania Congressman Gives Views on Fuel Situation in Speech in House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Charges that the fixing of the price of coal at two dollars by President Wilson resulted in the suspension of operation of small mines and the consequent reduction of the output of coal, which in turn resulted in the present shortage, were made today by Congressman Louis F. McFadden, of Pennsylvania, before the House. "The President, under the authority conferred upon him by law, fixed the price of bituminous coal generally over the country at $2 per ton and appointed Doctor Garfield as the administrator. Mr. McFadden declared the fixing of the price of $2 was a great shock and surprise to the coal men in view of the fact that this price was so close to the cost of production that it was barely possible to operate the mines and survive. In fact, it immediately resulted in the suspension of operation of a large number of small operators whose plants could not be operated at the same cost as some of the larger operators."

The operators lost confidence in what the Government was likely to do in the future, and as a result there was a policy of curtailment of operation of the country and a policy looking to the extension and improvement of the mines and an increased production. This uncertainty as to the attitude of the Government, coupled with the uncertainty of the operators as to the future prices of all commodities which entered into the production of coal, made the coal situation an unpromising and highly speculative one.
